Gastronomy Week 2019 with Yves Mattagne at the Radisson Blu Crete

A unique gastronomic week with the Belgian two-star Michelin chef Yves Mattagne is being hosted for the second year in Greece.

June 30 – July 4 for five exclusive nights

The five-star awarded Radisson Blu Beach Resort in Crete is about to welcome Chef Yves Mattagne at the French Bellevue Restaurant combining well known international wines with each course.

Yves Mattagne has won many distinctions during his career. Some of them are the first Michelin Star in 1991 and the second Michelin Star for his gastronomic creations in 1997. He has also won the 2003 Chef of the Year Award, the Gold Medal of the Gastronomy Academy in 2006, and the Golden Delta Guide award in 2007. He has edited the menu of major businesses all over the world and has recently edited the Brussels Airlines menu.

Yves Mattagne, one of the world's most popular chefs, will create an exclusive menu at the French Bellevue Restaurant, in a unique location overlooking the endless blue of the Aegean Sea.

For four nights, from Sunday June 30th to Wednesday July 4th at 8pm, resort guests and fine-dining fans will enjoy haute cuisine creations with influence from the French and Belgian cuisine.

They will also have the opportunity to enjoy a special wine pairing as well as an exclusive aperitif when the sunset will dazzle with the unique blue-green waters of the Aegean Sea.

Radisson Blu Beach Resort, a member of the Radisson Hotel Group chain with over 1,440 hotels around the world, is a top destination in Crete for those who are looking for relaxing moments in an elegant setting by the sea. With 318 luxurious rooms, suites and villas, 5 swimming pools, 2 private sandy beaches, facilities for couples and families and a total of 12 restaurants and bars, provides modern hospitality services to its guests.
